

Abstract Of The Disclosure

A smoke detector that has an image sensor and a light source, and the image sensor can sense smoke at a close distance, and the light source can be activated if there is insufficient ambient light for the image sensor.